Chinese Said Giving Money To Pay Debts

Great enthusiasm has been shown by Shanghailanders in the movement for $1 contributions to the Government for the repayment of the Chinese national debts, a Chinese report said yesterday.

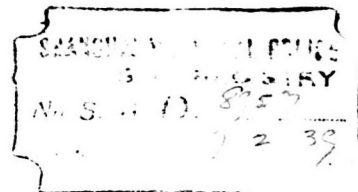

Led by General Hsieh Ching-yuan, famed commander of the Lone Battalion which for five days defied Japanese heavy artillery fire in a Chapel godown, a large number of local Chinese residents were said to have made their contributions.

Some of the contributions, the report said, were sent to local Chinese newspapers which are acting as agents of the Central Bank; others were sent direct to the bank office.

SCHOOL TEACHERS TAKE OATH OF LOYALTY

To demonstrate their unity as well as loyalty to the Party and the nation, teachers of various grades of schools in this locality have promoted an "educational employees' oath-taking movement."

It is learned that since the promotion of this movement in September this year up to yesterday, many schools have joined the movement. The presidents of the schools have filled the following form on behalf of their respective teaching staff :-

"I swear with all sincerity that I will deal with education absolutely in accordance with the aims and purposes of education as promulgated by the National Government; I will never register with the puppet organization nor will I accept any appointments or subsidies from it. Should I ever violate this oath, I am willing to undergo the most severe punishment from the people and the Government."

THE DOLLAR LOAN REFUND MOVEMENT

In connection with the $1 Loan Refund Movement, the Shanghai Municipality Educational Circles' Thrift Movement Acceleration Committee yesterday issued the following open letter addressed to educational circles:

"China's position in the family of nations has been greatly elevated because of her prolonged resistance. Democratic nations are in sympathy with her and are rendering assistance. Through the efforts of our Finance Commission, America has agreed to extend to China credit for Gold $25,000,000, while Britain has also promised to approve a loan of £10,000,000. With these large credits, there will be great improvement in China's military and economic strength. In the meantime, we should do our utmost to show ourselves worthy of their sympathy and help.

"The American and British credits amount approximately to Chinese $460,000,000. These loans can be immediately repaid if each of us contribute $1. As this movement has now been voluntarily started, we should assist this movement. It should not prove a difficult task, for the only thing we have to do is to curtail unnecessary expenses.."
